Art Unit: 1618

Claims 1-20 are presented for examination.

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-19 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-19 of U.S. Patent No. 6,455,590. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they overlap. The claims of the instant application are drawn to the use of a deprenyl compound in general and more specific deprenyl compounds in the dependent claims for the treatment of glaucoma. The claims of the U.S. patent are drawn to deprenyl compound in a liposome for the treatment of glaucoma. Such claims are an obvious variation and are within the scope of each other.

patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-19 rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-18 of U.S. Patent No. 5,783,606. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they overlap. The claims of the instant application are drawn to a deprenyl compound in general and more specific deprenyl compounds in the dependent claims for the treatment of glaucoma. The claims of the U.S. Patent are drawn to the specific deprenyl compounds as claimed in the dependent claims of the instant application. The claims of the instant application are an obvious variation and are within the scope of the U.S. Patent.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 20 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102 (b) as being anticipated by Fries Hastings (U.S. Patent 5,242,950). Fries Hasting teaches the use of a deprenyl compound in a pharmaceutical/opthalmic formulation for the treatment of macular degeneration. Such composition is inherently kept in a kit or container. The above reference makes clear that the claimed composition and the kit is old and well known.

Art Unit: 1618

The addition of instruction to a kit does not create a patentably distinct composition or kit. See In re Nagi, F.3d, 2004 WL 1068957 (Fed. Cir 1983).
